Weekly markets reopen in Delhi on a trial basis

*Weekly markets in the city were closed since March 25 due to coronavirus pandemic. DDMA has also directed authorities to ensure strict implementation of COVID-19 measures, including social distancing official considers it a tough task to ensure social distancing in the market. Lathi, a street shopkeeper who used to sell garments said, "I was sitting idle at home for the last six months. I am happy that the government has allowed this market to run. I used to earn Rs 10000 weekly and now it is becoming difficult to make the ends meet." Mohammad shoppe here selling the slippers. Today, I purchased a new pair of slippers after re-opening of the shops." Deepak Upadhyay, Licensing Inspector for Coordination and Enforcement in East Delhi Municipal Corporation (EDMC) said that it is a tough task to ensure social distancing in the market. "As a large number of people are visiting the market, it is becoming a tough task to ensure social distancing in the market. We have made circles around the shops and we are also drawing circles on the road to maintain social distancing. We have asked the shopkeepers to maintain social distancing and follow the health guidelines," said Upadhyay. "Every Monday we will come and we will ensure the smooth functioning of the market. We want them to earn a livelihood," he added. In Delhi, the active COVID-19 cases continue to remain between 10,000 and 12,000 during the past few weeks. The deaths per day due to COVID-19 have also decreased. Delhi on Monday reported 1,061 new COVID-19 cases, 1,200 discharges/cures/migrated and 13 deaths. Total number of cases now at 1,62,527 including 1,46,588 recovered cases, 11,626 active cases and 4,313 deaths, said Delhi government a bulletin.

New Delhi: Weekly markets in the national capital that have been shut since last week of March due to coronavirus induced lockdown reopened on Monday after Delhi government allowed it till August 30, on a trial basis. One such weekly market-Gandhi Nagar Market- was re-opened in East Delhi after Delhi Disaster Management Authority (DDMA) had on Friday allowed weekly market to open on a trial basis from August 24-30. Weekly markets in the city were closed since March 25 due to coronavirus pandemic. DDMA has also directed authorities to ensure strict implementation of COVID-19 measures, including social distancing. While customers and shopkeepers said that they are happy with the government's decision but government

Mumbai: Sixty-four-year-old Muhammad Ali reached Mahad immediately after hearing news of a building in Maharashtra's Raigad collapsing like a pack of cards. Ali, a resident of Mandangad in Raigad district, said he is clueless about the fate of his daughter, who lived in the three-storied Tarek Garden building with her three children. "My son, who lives in Mumbai, called me on Monday night and said the building had collapsed. I immediately set out from Mandangad," he said. Ali reached Mahad, which is around 40 km from Mandangad, on Monday night and is camping near the collapse site, frantically trying to know the whereabouts of his son. "My daughter lives in the building along with her two daughters aged five and two years and a son who is three years old. I don't know their fate. Officials are not allowing me to search for them in the debris," he said. A day after the five-storied building collapsed, rescue personnel continued to sift through the rubble in search of survivors, while police said 19 persons are still missing. An official at the Maharashtra State Control Room of the State Disaster Management Unit said the Tarek Garden building at Kajalpura in Mahad had collapsed around 7 PM. There were around 40 flats in the building, the official said, adding those rescued were shifted to a local hospital at Mahad, which is around 170 km from Mumbai.

Nitin Gadkari calls for adopting advanced models, use of biofuel, electric, CNG in public transport

New Delhi: Union Minister for Road Transport & Highways Nitin Gadkari on Monday (August 24, 2020) said that public transport should be modernised which is based on biofuels, CNG and electricity as fuel. Addressing a Webinar - 4th UITP India Bus Seminar, he said most of the State Road Transport Undertakings (SRТУs) are incurring huge expenditure on conventional fuels which are expensive and called for moving on to biofuels, CNG and electricity as a transportation fuel. He said this will not only save on fuel bill but also contribute to the economy and pollution reduction. At present, Gadkari said the country is spending huge amounts on import of crude oil/hydrocarbons, which according to him needs to be reduced. Referring to the workability of the use of biofuels/CNG etc, he informed that Nagpur has started to convert 450 buses on to biofuels.

Announce another fiscal stimulus by the ministry of micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs). The presentation said that as on August 1, three-fourths of India's MSMEs were working at less than half their potential capacity. It also said that more than 9,096 had opened up, showing that the unlock process, at least in principle, has been almost completed. These statistics underline the central economic challenge facing the
